Our shared promise

The best of both worlds – combined for you

GRILLO and Glencore have stood for quality, experience, and reliability for years. Starting in January 2026, we will be joining forces. The result: a joint product that combines the best of both worlds—for your needs today and tomorrow.

Why we cooperate – and you benefit

We believe in strong partnerships – and in the idea that we can achieve more together. That is why we are combining our production capacities. For you, everything will remain as it is – with the same reliable delivery, proven quality, and familiar sales contacts – while at the same time becoming more future-proof:

Joint product

Two partners, one strong offering.

Slightly modified product shape

Visually redesigned, functionally identical.

Reduced carbon footprint

More sustainable thanks to optimized processes.

Long-term future security

A reliable partnership for tomorrow.
